PAROLE VIOLATORS

All juveniles returning to ADJC from parole are placed on "pending suspension/revocation" status until a hearing is completed. One of three outcomes can occur at the hearing: parole reinstatement, parole reinforcement or parole revocation. The parole reinforcement program was terminated in June of 2004. A juvenile can also be discharged or released, however, that action is initiated independent of the revocation process. Parole revocation results in a juvenile returning to a secure safe school.

Total Number of Juveniles in ADJC Custody

ADJC secure care school population has decreased each year since 2002. This decline is attributed, among other reason, to the decline in the number of juvenile arrest in Arizona.

Length of Stay Served

Although most juveniles committed to the Arizona Department of Juvenile Corrections (ADJC) are given a court-ordered minimum length of stay by a juvenile court judge, the department has the discretion of keeping a juvenile until they have completed their appropriate program. The table below indicates the average length of stay a juvenile stayed within each status by gender.

DISCHARGES

A discharge is when a juvenile is released from ADJC custody. This may occur for different reasons. A juvenile may become an adult at age 18, be transferred to the adult court jurisdiction, or may have earned an absolute discharge.

ARIZONA JUVENILE CRIME TRENDS

According to official reports, juvenile crime in Arizona is declining. In fact, the number of juvenile arrests has declined since 1996, and the percentage of Arizona violent and property crimes cleared by juvenile arrest has also declined. Meanwhile, the number of juvenile petitions increased in 2004 from 2003 before decreasing in 2005.

RECIDIVISM

The latest figures show that 33.7% of the juveniles released from an ADJC Safe School in 2004 recidivated within 12 months of their release: 29.7% had their parole revoked, 0.1% were recommitted to ADJC by a juvenile court and 3.9% were sentenced to the Arizona Department of Corrections. The 2003 release cohort posted an increase (10.2%) over the 2002 releases in the percentage of releases that returned to custody within 12 months.

SAFE SCHOOL POPULATION PROJECTION

The ADJC institutional population is projected to increase from an average of 715 in Fiscal Year (FY) 2006 to an average of 731 in FY 2010. The projection assumes ADJC admissions will slightly increase from 652 in FY 2006 to 704 in the first 5 years of the projection and then increase proportionately with the projected increase in Arizona's at-risk juvenile population.
